Cracking in N facing gully Hyalite/Hasty Test

Date Wed, 01/10/2024 - 12:20 Activity Ice Climbing

Pockets of wind loaded snow throughout the gully. Slab thickness varied. It was steep enough to slide but was anchored well by trees and willows. The hasty test seemed that the slab failed on facets just below the recent storm snow.

Region Northern Gallatin Location (from list) Hyalite - main fork Observer Name Tate Hughes